

Wichita Daily Eagle

THE SEDGWICK COUNTY REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

We, the Republicans of Sedgewick county, in convention assembled, again renew our allegiance to the great party of progress and human liberty, whose name we bear, whose traditions we honor, and whose principles we love, and we recall with pride and confidence the fact that the Republican party, first organized to vindicate the rights of man, has ever been mindful of the wishes and desires of the people and prompt to respond to every reasonable demand.

We recognize that agriculture is the great industry of Kansas, upon the prosperity of which the welfare of all classes of our people depends, and we insist that the interests of the farmers shall be a foremost consideration in all legislation, and that every demand made of our people shall receive the most prompt attention at the hands of the state legislature.

We believe that the discrimination in freight rates, by railroad corporations depriving their franchisees from the state of Kansas, against the people of this state and in favor of communities elsewhere, is an evil demanding the immediate attention of our law makers, and the most prompt and vigorous legislation to suppress it.

We also insist that at least one member of the state board of railroad commissioners should be a practicing farmer, and that sufficient power should be lodged in the commission to enable it to enforce prompt compliance with its decisions.

We favor the most liberal pensions for our veteran soldiers, the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and as large a reduction of the tariff as the necessities and obligations of the government will permit without impairing the principle of protection to American labor, and we instruct our senator and our representatives to vote for no man for United States senator who is not sound upon every one of these propositions.

We congratulate our fellow citizens upon the fact that in recent contests in congress over the question of free coinage of silver, the delegation from Kansas stood like a solid rock for free coinage, and the known wishes of their constituents, and we note with pride that the leader of the friends of free coinage in the senate was a Kansas Republican, while we also note the fact that the most prominent and inveterate enemy of free coinage in America is the leader and patron saint of Democracy—Grover Cleveland.

We favor the recommitment of the prohibitory amendment to a vote of the people, and while we recognize an honest difference of opinion among the Republicans as to the wisdom and efficiency of prohibition as a temperance measure, we believe that upon the right of the people to vote upon so vital an issue, no true Republican can entertain an honest doubt, and urge upon the coming legislature its submission to the people at the earliest practicable date. And we instruct our delegates to the next state convention at Topeka to labor to secure a recommitment plank in the Republican platform, and we also instruct our senators and representatives to vote for a resolution to submit the prohibitory amendment to a vote of the people.

We favor a most liberal representation of this state and a generous display of its resources at the world's fair to be held in 1892, and we urge upon our delegates to enact without delay broad and comprehensive legislation looking to this end.

We believe the enactment of a national bankruptcy law is a matter of vital interest to this state, and we request Senators Ingalls and Plumb to use every effort to secure the passage of such a measure at the earliest possible date.

We endorse to the fullest extent the principles of reciprocity in our commercial relations with other nations so ably advocated by Hon. James G. Blaine, and we believe that the broad and comprehensive American policy outlined by that distinguished Republican statesman is equally calculated to develop the resources and expand the trade of our country and dignify American statesmanship in the eyes of the world.

We favor the reduction of the salaries of all public officers to a reasonable limit and the abolishing of all useless offices.

At the last session of the legislature of the state of Kansas the office of commissioner of elections was created in cities of the first class, and we deem said office to be without benefit to the people, and an unnecessary expense, and we therefore earnestly ask that the law creating said office be repealed at the coming session of the legislature.

We favor an amendment to the mortgage law forbidding waiver of appraisal, securing to the mortgagee a liberal right of redemption after sale, and limiting the lender of money exclusively to his real estate security and we instruct our senators and representatives accordingly.

That we demand a revision by our railroad commissioners of the classification of merchandise and rates in our state and demand such classification as will be uniform with that of the Missouri river, and to be no greater than those established by the commissioners of Iowa.

We are in favor of the enactment by the next legislature of a law to enable judgment debtors to stay execution on all judgments rendered in the district court of the state for a reasonable length of time and under such limitations that will benefit the debtor class and will not impair the rights of the creditors.

We tender hearty thanks to our fellow Republicans of the seventh congressional district for the nomination of our distinguished fellow citizen, Colonel J. H. Hall, who, as their candidate for congress, and we pledge to him our united and hearty support of the Republicans of Sedgewick county.

All the circumstances of life are in some sort educative. Health and happiness have their lesson of active duty to teach us if we will receive it, and so, likewise, have pain, disease and misfortune, as lately stated by Mr. Spurgeon, a purpose of correction, a chastening and mellowing influence within them. With some natures and moods perhaps it is otherwise. The sharpness of the stroke touches no mental spring but that of self concern, but here again it is the wise who learn. For him these evils, for such they still remain, are also the seeds of sympathy with others in like trouble. If he be through any fault of his own accountable for them, they are in true science as in Scripture the natural recompense of evil, a protest on behalf of needful self control, which he will do well to observe. There is more, therefore, than an apparent tendency to asceticism in this doctrine of disciplinary suffering.

Of course, it does not follow that the prosperous and the healthy must at some time undergo this training by reverses. The same lessons of patience, fellow feeling and self restraint can be learned in other ways, and it is quite certain that the daily round and task abound in opportunities for such wholesome instruction. We are alike justified, therefore, in admitting for this purpose the frequent utility of pain, and in seeking, to the best of our ability, to limit and to destroy this otherwise harsh and hurtful instructor. Health of mind and body and well being of estate are alone consistent with perfect life as ordered by nature's plan and the divine will, and every purpose of training is compatible with their full possession and their proper use.—Lancet.

haste. One day I spoke to my barber about it. He said the remedy was simple enough. All that was necessary was that the top of my head should be shaved regularly for about six months.

I could wear a toupee, or half wig, and nobody would be the wiser, and at the end of six months my hair would come out strong and always remain so.

I went to a wigmaker and asked him if he could prescribe a cure for baldness.

He, too, advised shaving the head. That was exceedingly cheering. Two men of science harmonized.

I bought a toupee of the wigmaker.

I remember that I paid $30 for it. Then

I had my head shaved twice a week regularly. Occasional examinations of the top of my head were not very encouraging. But thinking that all would be well in time I persevered. At the end of six months I was forced to confess that I had less hair than before.

Indeed there was no hair at all on the top of my head. Wearing the toupee had kept out the air and killed the roots. I threw the toupee away and philosophically accepted my fate.—New Reverses of French Noblemen.

Sad have been the reverses of the old

French nobility since Edmund Burke penned his splendid eulogy. According to M. Lescurie a grandson of that same of Fontenoy to "fire first" ended his days noble families equally famous in their time are, or were, according to the same authority, occupying the humble positions of gamekeeper, carpenter's apprentice, house painter, cab driver, miller's assistant, innkeeper, conductor of an

A Vice President Fishing.

When Hannibal Hamlin was vice president of the United States he went fishing in a Canadian stream and had struck a splendid salmon. A boat approached in which were the English treaty commissioners. Mr. Hamlin was meeting the crisis with the vigor and skill of an accomplished angler. The Englishmen, as their boat drew near,

saw that he was battling with a noble foe. When told who the gentlemen were Mr. Hamlin called out, "You must excuse me till I land this salmon!" The introduction was deferred for about half an hour, when the Englishmen were able to salute not only the vice president, but the conqueror of a kingly salmon. He decided the question of etiquette off-hand, though it is to be presumed that the salmon would have preferred the following of the venerable and accepted rule—drop everything when a caller is announced.—St. Louis Republic.

The Busiest Man in the World.

It is a bare matter of fact to say that Voltaire never knew what a vacant moment was. Planning, writing, revising or directing the performance of a play; composing some pamphlet which, read by every cultivated person in Europe, would furnish fertile food for many an hour's conversation in courts and coteries; penning or dictating letters, of which the series is so inexhaustible that

Charles Nodier is reported to have said:

"What! More unpublished letters of Voltaire! The only end to them will be the end of the world!"—Gentleman's

Magazine.
